Arrests made in homemade bomb incidents

$500K bond set for suspect in October roadside bomb case

BY MARK CAMPBELL

A Kentucky man and a Madison woman both appeared for initial hearings in Jefferson Circuit Court Friday afternoon after being charged with bomb-making in connection with a homemade explosive device found beside a Jefferson County highway last October and another device recovered at a downtown Madison home on Wednesday.

Cameron M. Kinser, 32, of Crestwood, Kentucky, has been charged with two counts of possession, manufacture, transportation or distribution of a destructive device, both Level 5 felonies and visiting a common nuisance, a Class B misdemeanor.

Kinser appeared before Circuit Judge DJ Mote in a Zoom hearing from the Jefferson County Jail on Friday.

After considering testimony by Jefferson County Chief Deputy Joshua Taylor and ISP Master Trooper Rick Stockdale, an explosives technician who responded to both scenes, Mote entered a "not guilty" plea on Kinser's behalf but set bond at $500,000 full cash.

Sadie Elaine Wells, 26, of Madison, has been charged with one count of possession, manufacture, transportation or distribution of a destructive device, a Level 5 felony, and possession of a syringe or needle, a Level 6 felony, and lodged in the Jefferson County Jail. Mote also entered a "not guilty" plea on her behalf and set bond at $1,500 cash.

The charges were filed after Madison Police, responded Wednesday to a disturbance call at a residence in the 1000 block of East Street in downtown Madison and discovered a homemade explosive device. The ensuing investigation and interviews with witnesses then linked that device to a similar

Campbell hired as chief deputy prosecutor

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Jefferson County Prosecutor David Sutter announced earlier this week that he has hired a new Chief Deputy Prosecutor. Southern Indiana native and veteran prosecutor, Melissa Campbell, has been selected to help lead the office and was sworn in on Monday.

Melissa Campbell

"Melissa adds a powerful level of experience and trial skill to our office. With her on board, we will be able to continue the high level of commitment to crime victims and community safety that the people of Jefferson County expect and deserve," said Sutter.

"It is an honor to serve the people of Jefferson County in this role. I will work hard every day to uphold the excellent reputation of the Prosecutor's Office established by Mr. Sutter over the last few years," Campbell said.

The position came open when former Chief Deputy Blaine Good ran for and won election as Jefferson Superior Court Judge in November. Good vacated the prosecutor's position and took his oath of office on Dec. 30, and is now on the bench rather than arguing cases in front of local judges.

In her new role, Campbell will handle major felony cases and crimes against persons or property in Circuit Court. Campbell's experience has been concentrated in criminal law for the past 20 years and she has tried hundreds of bench trials and more than jury trials, including every level of felony.

Campbell comes to her new role with vast experience working with a number of prosecutors. She served for eight years at the Washington County Prosecutor's Office and two years at the Floyd County Prosecutor's Office as the lead felony deputy. She has also served as a public defender and previously worked with a private law firm.

Campbell received her bachelor's degree in political science and psychology from Indiana University Southeast and her Juris Doctor from Drake Law School. She lives in Borden with her family.

Commissioners zoom through first meeting of 2021

BY MARK CAMPBELL

Jefferson County Commissioners met online Thursday and quickly zoomed through a light agenda for the group's first meeting of 2021.

The only real action that took place was the reappointment of Gene Riedle to the Jefferson County Plan Commission and the rescheduling of the Commissoners' next meeting at 9 a.m. on Thursday, Feb. 4 rather than later that evening as previously scheduled.

In the case of Riedle, his service on Plan Commission is now extended to December 2024 and by moving the next Commission meeting to 9 a.m., the group can hold a bid opening for next year's road package at 10 a.m. rather than having to wait to begin considering those contracts.

The remainder of Thursday's 17-minute Zoom session involved reports from various department heads.

Highway Superintendent Bobby Phillips said work on the County Road 1525 bridge is progressing well and a second concrete footer is due to be poured next week weather permitting. He added he expects to receives six or more bids on the county's 2021 road package which should make for good competition for the work.

Emergency Management Director Troy Morgan reported that the county's re-application as a Storm Ready County has been approved and work to inventory the county's warehouse for storing Personal Protective Equipment has been completed and the supply on hand is currently sufficient.

Sheriff Dave Thomas reported that the Jefferson County Jail capacity has been running at about 190-200 inmates with numbers dropping somewhat due to inmates being processed out to the Indiana Department of Correction and others being bonded out. Thomas said the department is currently trying to realign its shifts due to staff promotions and other developments should soon allow his detectives to do more nighttime surveillance.

Commissioner Bobby Little reported that recent action by the Public Defender Board will allow the county to better manage its roster of public defenders assigned to court in Jefferson County with 40% of the cost of that new administrative position reimbursed by the state and much of the rest paid for by offices of the local judges.

Commissioner David Bramer was absent due to a medical issue.

bomb recovered on Oct. 25, 2020, just off the side of State Road 250 near the intersection of US 421.

According to Taylor, the sheriff's office has been investigating the October case ever since and had identified Kinser as a suspect in November but it wasn't until the second explosive device was recovered on Wednesday that charges were brought. When Kinser was arrested at the Presidential Estates on Madison's hilltop police found a small amount of methamphetamine in his possession.

The first device, which included sheet metal screws, explosive material, a power source and wiring packaged in a plastic lunch box secured with tape, was recovered after Stockdale inspected and X-rayed the device and then used a "water disruption shot" to render it safe. The second device involved a metal pipe, timer and switch contained in a plastic index card box. Although there was no explosive material inside the pipe, there was residue of explosive material inside the box and additional residue in a bedroom of the home where the device was recovered.

Madison Police Detective Kyle Cutshaw and Patrolman Cameron Blankenship began the investigation into the device on Wednesday with Stockdale and other officers assistingat the scene.

Kinser faces up to six years on each count related to the destructive device charge and up to 180 days jail on the misdemeanor. However, Taylor testified that Kinser has previous convictions in Kentucky for burglary-third degree and second-degree escape as well as a felony warrant pending from Clark County, Indiana.

Wells faces up to six years on the destructive device charge and six months to 2 1/2 year on the possession charge.

The cases were initially scheduled for hearings in Jefferson Superior Court but newly seated Superior Court Judge Blaine Goode, a former deputy prosecutor who just took his oath on Dec. 30, had to recuse himself due to a potential conflict. Both cases have now been transferred to Circuit Court where Mote has scheduled pretrial hearings for Wednesday afternoon.

The case is still under investigation and additional charges could be forthcoming.

on Friday so residents were being urged to be patient. Local health department phone numbers were also being overwhelmed even though appointments cannot be scheduled there and must go through the 211 phone number.

Jefferson County, which had announced earlier in the week that it would be receiving the Moderna COVID-19 vaccine, will be allotted 100 vaccines per week for the next three weeks with that supply expected to slightly increase on week four. There is no cost to the individual, but insurance may be charged an administration fee and individuals should bring a photo ID and an insurance card if they have one.

The Moderna vaccine will require two doses administered 28 days apart so a return appointment will be made at the time you receive your first dose. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, it typically takes a few weeks for the body to build immunity after the second vaccination.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved the vaccines under an Emergency Use Authorization (EUA), meaning the vaccines must be proven safe and effective in the same way that all medications and devices must be. The vaccines have been found in trials to be 94% to 95% effective in preventing COVID-19 infections in participants.

Side effects are temporary and are generally mild, including fatigue, headache and sometimes fever. People who have been vaccinated may still be able to infect others, so even those who are vaccinated should continue wearing a face mask and quarantine if they are a close contact of a positive case.

Meanwhile, the best ways to protect yourself and others are to:

- Wash your hands often with soap and water for at least 20 seconds
- Avoid touching your face with unwashed hands
- Avoid close contact with people who are sick
- Stay home when you're sick
- Cover your cough or sneeze
- Clean and disinfect frequently touched objects and surfaces

PETS OF THE WEEK

The Madison-Jefferson County Animal Shelter currently has a number of dogs and cats and kittens available for adoption.

Lion-O is a sweet little boy who is still a little skittish. He likes being held, but is still getting used to being an inside cat. He gets along with other cats, but the shelter is unsure if he likes dogs.

Tommy is a handsome guy with very distinct markings who loves to run and play. He gets along with other cats, but hasn't been tested with dogs.

Both cats have been neutered and had their rabies shot, and thanks to funding by the Human Society their adoption fee is only $10 each.

The shelter has a new adoption policy beginning Jan. 1. All animals must be spay/neutered and have their rabies vaccination before they can leave the shelter. Animals that haven't been neutered and vaccinated can be pre-adopted but they will remain at the shelter until their surgery is done. Adoption fees have also changed with dogs set at $100 and cats $80. The shelter is still by appointment only, so if you would like to make an appointment please email the shelter at email animal.shelter39@ jeffersoncounty.in.gov or call 812-273-1788.

The shelter has pictures of additional pets waiting for adoption for viewing at www.sisaveapet.com.

Volunteers are always welcome at the shelter. Individuals must be at least 16 years old to volunteer. Volunteers can help with everyday cleaning, answering phones, and exercising the pets. Contact the shelter for details.

Those with missing pets can call or email a complete description of the pet, when and where it was last seen, the owner's name and contact information, and a picture of the pet. Pets are held for three days before they are made available for adoption. Animals should not be abandoned outside of the shelter or dropped off at the shelter after hours. For animal control issues in Madison, call 812-265-3347. For animal control issues in Hanover and Jefferson County, call 812-265-2648.

Mrs. LaVonna Mae "Babe" Risk

LaVonna Mae Risk, 95, entered mortality on 30 December 2020. Born March 8, 1925 in Elwood, Indiana to Golda and Day Risk, they would soon move to Canaan, Indiana where she would live the majority of her long and adventurous life. Nicknamed "Babe" as a toddler hanging around the local garage in Canaan with her father, Babe would become an unconquerable and colorful force. Her zest for life, music, dancing, cards, homemaking, sports and family would set the mold for the matriarch she would become and how she would influence . . . she also had an extremely heavy lead foot and more than once helped straightened the curves to and from Canaan. Babe attended Canaan elementary school, followed by Central High School in Madison. Shortly after graduation, she married her husband of 65 years, Howard Clifford Risk, also of Canaan. Baptized in 1938, Babe was an 82-year member of Indian-Kentuck Baptist Church. During her tenure, Babe held several positions in the church, including serving as the first woman trustee and until her death was the longest serving member of the congregation. As a young mother to a growing family of three children - Richard, Larry and Shirley - she also served as homemaker and farm partner. Babe was known to be milking cows or in the fields beside her growing family one minute and then rushing home to have food on the table the next. Often following dinner was an incredibly competitive family game of croquet in the farmyard, with Babe frequently willing to chance a game of 'poison' while playing croquet to take out her own kin rather than win. With her children maturing, Babe joined the Indiana Order of Eastern Start (OES) in 1954. Babe's crowning achievement was being elevated to Indiana Worthy Grand Matron in 1972. Babe loved traveling the state for OES engagements and communing with the many lifelong friends she and Howard met along the way. Neither high water or snowy and icy conditions could temper her determination to attend functions - many times she was seen shoveling snow in a ball gown and snow boots to free one of her many rear-wheel drive cars out of precarious spots. In 1972 alone, Babe recorded 72,000 miles on her 1969 Bonneville traveling the state to the many OES Chapters. Babe was a member of OES for 66 years.Her life with Howard was a robust, cultured and well-traveled adventure - among their many travels, they visited all 50 states, 5 continents and numerous countries. Her competitive spirit also lent itself to weekly card games with the Canaan Bid-Euchre club where her secret fresh strawberry pie recipe was almost as well-known as her jovial glee in 'euchring' someone. This competitive spirt (and secret pie recipe) would be passed down through her family. LaVonna and Howard's immortal legacy lives on through their children and their respective families as exemplified through their love of live music, dancing, cards, croquet, cooking, sports, the arts and, most importantly, a sense of family. May you rest in peace knowing that you are loved and will forever live in our hearts. We know you took great pride in looking upon the families you helped shape.

Love you forever.

Williams joins 1,000-point club in Southwestern rout of Shawe

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Southwestern students hold up signs celebrating Matthew Williams' 1,000th-career point in the Rebels' win over Shawe on Thursday.

Matthew Williams knew exactly how many points he needed to get to 1,000 on Thursday, but rather than forcing a shot every time he got the ball, the Southwestern senior instead did what he always does, let the game come to him and take the points when they came.

That strategy paid off in spades. Needing 19 points to reach the milestone, Williams nearly achieved that goal in the first quarter as the Rebels rolled to a 101-34 win over county and conference rival Shawe at home.

Williams scored 13 points in a first quarter that saw Southwestern jump out to a 28-2 lead and got the next six points quickly in the second period. The 1,000th-point came on a free throw with 6:39 left before halftime, after which he flashed a huge smile and got plenty of hugs from his teammates.

"I was just having fun. I was just playing like I always do," said Williams, still beaming 20 minutes after the game. "I'm really happy because it's been such a loooong road back. To finally get it, my heart feels good."

Williams was on pace to blow by the 1,000-point mark early in his junior season, but a knee injury in just the fifth game derailed his season and sent him to the sidelines. Healthy but not yet 100%, Williams has started every game this season and has heated up over the past two weeks as the Rebels have caught fire as a team.

"I'm super proud of that kid. He has worked his tail off," Southwestern coach Zac Nussbaum said. "He's one of hardest workers I've ever had and to come back from that injury and really buy into the change that we're using him has just been phenomenal to watch. I'm very proud of him."

Williams finished Thursday's game with 24 points but he played only 14 minutes as the Rebels took care of Shawe quickly.

Nussbaum subbed early and often and, as a result, no starter played more than 20 minutes and nine different players and everybody in uniform hit the floor.

Southwestern (9-1, 1-1 Ohio River Valley) scored the first 15 points of the game largely by feeding Williams inside and, despite the substitutions, never slowed down. After Williams reached his milestone, the rest of the game was anti-climatic.

For Shawe coach Dan Hambrick, the game was another chance to work with his young squad while facing one of the better teams in the state. Hambrick said he never really looked at the scoreboard, instead preferring to treat the game almost like an active scrimmage.

"You're not going to find a better team in southern Indiana than that one. They've got shooters, they crash the board and they were beating us up and down the floor like nobody's business," Hambrick said. "I told our guys, let's run our offense, run it, run it and run it. We're trying to build on each game and every possession. I understand we're young and the hand that we've been dealt, but if we can stay healthy, we'll get better."

No Hilltopper reached double figures in scoring with Grayson May's nine points leading the way. Phillip Kahn scored eight and Davis Grote had seven for Shawe (1-2, 0-2 ORVC), which shot just 28% (10-for-28) from the floor for the game. Williams led five Rebels in double figures, three of whom came off the bench.

Freshman Jamison Lewis scored a career-high 13 points, Parker Davis had 12 and Colton Cloud added 11 for the Rebels. Regular starters Austin Kramer added 11 points while

Carroll girls fall to Walton in All 'A' quarterfinals

BY DAVID CAMPBELL

Carroll County's young girls basketball team couldn't have asked for a tougher test for its first time on the floor this season, a 73-38 loss to always tough Walton-Verona in the quarterfinals of the All "A" Classic Eighth Region Tournament Wednesday at home.

The Panthers committed 34 turnovers — 13 in the first quarter alone — and were never in the game. Carroll County coach Hannah Devine wasn't surprised by the outcome but also knows that there will be brighter days ahead for her team.

"We're very young and it's been 317 days since we've played a game. A lot of these girls don't have extreme varsity experience," Devine said. "To have Walton as your first game is a tough go around. They're a great program and always have a good team."

Unlike their namesake, Walton-Verona didn't toy with its victim.

The Bearcats scored the first 10 points of the game, led 21-4 after the first quarter and 45-19 at halftime.

Carroll's biggest liability was turnovers.

Walton's full-court and later half-court trap defenses were deadly effective and the Panthers had trouble getting the ball past mid-court. Carroll committed 20 turnovers in the first half and its most effective offense was getting fouled and going to the line, where it was 10-for-12 in the first half.

Although the turnovers weren't a surprise, Devine wasn't exactly pleased with the numbers. However, she was happy to see her team get more comfortable as the game wore on and the number of turnovers dropped.

"This was our first game in a long time. We didn't know who we were, we haven't scrimmaged or anything," Devine said. "They exposed all of our weaknesses and that's a good thing for us. We'll learn from this game."

The Local Board is responsible for recommending agencies to receive these funds and any additional funds made available under this phase of the program.
Under the terms of the grant from the National Board, local agencies chosen to receive funds must:

Late husband's family bothering me

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: I'm a 39-year-old mom of four. My husband recently passed away, in April of this year.

His family was never very kind to me when he was alive, and they haven't changed now that he's gone. I've been dealing with their judgment and hostility. They find any little thing they can to criticize me and gossip about me. And I'm just wondering how to stop them from talking about my life when they have no idea what they're talking about. Please help! — Mrs. Fed Up

Dear Fed-Up: I am so sorry that your husband died and that your in-laws are making life harder for you. I'm going to pass along something that someone once shared with me: What other people think of you is none of your business. That's not an admonishment. It's a mantra. They're entitled to their opinions, and you're entitled to ignore them. The more you can accept that, the lighter you'll feel.

Reach out to friends and family who shore you up rather than giving any weight to the opinions of people who would tear a grieving widow down.

Dear Annie: For six years, I've been with a man — let's call him "Ben." We have one child together and one on the way. I'm frustrated because I do all of the housework even though we're both employed. We divided up expenses. He pays for the house payment and the babysitter when we need one, and I pay for all of the utilities and groceries. I also do most of the childcare tasks.

I don't feel like I should have to ask for him to get off his butt and help; I feel like he should naturally want to help and just do it. I've noticed that when we are around his family, he jumps to help them with anything in a split second. He seems like he would just rather be lazy when it comes to our own home life, expecting me to do all the domestic work.

I'd try talking to him about this, but he's not a talk-about-your-feelings type of guy, more of a sort-your-own-laundry type of guy. In the past, anytime I've brought up anything remotely uncomfortable, he seems to register it as a threat and says something negative directed towards me and not at all helpful to resolving the issue. Advice? — Unheard Girlfriend

Dear Unheard: I empathize with your hesitation, but to give up on honest communication is to give up on the relationship. When you don't feel you can express yourself, resentments will continue to pile up, like so many unwashed dishes.

Try finding a time when you're both relaxed, and casually ask if he'll help you make a list of priorities around the house. This will help you both better understand which tasks the other feels are important, and it will give you the chance to talk it out and compromise in areas where your views differ. Approaching it with a spirit of collaboration is different that exhaustion or resentment. Hopefully, he won't go into defensive mode. If he still shuts down, then you might ask him about attending couples' counseling together. Addressing the underlying communication issues would help with the housework issue as well as all other aspects of your relationship.

Hoarding isn't logical

ANNIE LANE
DEAR ANNIE

Dear Annie: My sister is 75 years old. She is a hoarder. She has lived at home her whole life and started accumulating junk soon after my dad died 10 years ago. If something comes into the house, it isn't going out, as it is with most hoarders. So you can imagine what an appalling situation it has become.

My sister took care of my mom, who was in a wheelchair until she died two years ago at age 93. I spent thousands of dollars between the time when my mom became ill and when she died, driving a 50-mile round trip every day for six years to help my sister take care of her. And I continued to do so every other weekend after our mom died, bringing my grandsons to visit so my sister wouldn't feel lonely.

Recently, I took a tumble at the dog park and fractured my kneecap. I asked my sister whether I could borrow one of Mom's wheelchairs for a while. She told me to go look for one at Goodwill.

I figured that her mounds of precious junk must be more important to her than my many years of loyalty, and I don't want to ever visit her again. And she can't visit me because she can't bear the thought of getting rid of her broken-down Buick to buy a new one.

Do you think she would get help with her problem if I stopped seeing her, or would she just be happy alone with her stuff? — Snuffed Out by Stuff

Dear Snuffed Out by Stuff: Hoarding is a form of obsessive-compulsive disorder. The disorder does not operate in the realm of logic. You can't reason with it. And you shouldn't take it personally — because as much as it might seem to you that your sister is choosing her stuff over you, she's not really choosing anything at this point. She's simply acting on compulsions.

If you want to stop visiting her for the sake of your own well-being, I applaud the boundary-setting. But it sounds as though you want to stop visiting her because you hope it would spur her to get help. If that's the case, you want to control the uncontrollable, and you'd most likely end up even more frustrated. Instead of basing decisions on how they might or might not impact her hoarding behavior, base your decisions on what's healthy for you.

Visit the hoarding section of the International OCD Foundation's website (https://hoarding.iocdf.org) for information on what causes people to hoard and how you might be able to help.

Madison girls beat New Albany in final HHC game

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Madison girls basketball closed out its final Hoosier Hills Conference season in style, beating New Albany, 59-39, at home on Thursday.

School officials announced last spring that this school year would the last for Madison in the conference, which Madison helped found in 1972.

For the Lady Cubs, this was their last chance to make their mark on the league.

After starting the conference season with wins over Jeffersonville, Floyd Central and Seymour, Madison suffered losses to Class 4A No. 2 Bedford North Lawrence, Jennings County and Columbus East. Thursday's win over New Albany broke a 5-game losing streak to the Bulldogs and allowed the Cubs to finish their final conference slate at 4-3, their first winning record in league play since the 2013-14 school year and just eighth winning season in 45 years.

Madison led 15-11 after the first quarter then eased out to a 29-19 lead by halftime. The Cubs then outscored the Bulldogs by 10 over the final 16 minutes to seal the win.

Senior Jade Nutley posted her fifth straight double-double with 17 points and 14 rebounds to lead Madison while Taylor Lynch had an impressive stats line of 13 points, eight assists, five rebounds and six steals. Daesja Jay and Lundun Perry each added nine points for the Cubs.

Taylor Treat scored 15 points and Vanessa Burns had 11 for New Albany (4-11, 0-3 HHC).

Madison, now 6-9 overall, returns to action on Tuesday when it hosts Class 3A No. 2 Silver Creek.

Switzerland girls roll past Rising Sun into Rivertown Classic championship

Pacer boys team falls to Shiners, 66-57

BY COURIER STAFF REPORT

Switzerland County girls basketball picked up a 57-23 win over rival Rising Sun in the semifinals of the Rivertown Classic at South Dearborn on Wednesday.

Maddie Duvall had 19 points, six steals, four rebounds and three assists to lead Switzerland while twin sister Jessie Duvall had 14 points, six rebounds, two assists and two steals.

Keirstan Oeffinger had eight points, three rebounds, three steals and two assists, Jayden Thomas had four points and four rebounds, Gracie White had four points, and Nora Hankins had three points and seven rebounds.

Switzerland, now 10-2 on the season, faced Lawrenceburg in the championship game of the Rivertown Classic on Friday evening. The Pacers will host Christian Academy of Indiana today but Monday's home game against Shawe has been rescheduled for Jan. 21.

The Switzerland boys lost 66-57 to Rising Sun in the Rivertown Classic semifinals on Thursday. The Pacers, now 2-9 on the season, face Lawrenceburg in the third-place game tonight and travel to Southwestern next Friday.

SPORTS SHORTS

• Madison junior varsity girls basketball won a pair of games this week.

On Tuesday, the Cubs defeated Brownstown 48-31. Breck Ralston had 10 points to lead Madison while Cadence Traylor, Patty Johnson and Cameran Cahall each had eight points.

On Thursday, Madison beat New Albany 34-16. Ralston had 11 points and eight steals, Mary Johnson had four points, six rebounds and three assists, and Cam Mann and Lexi Sullivan each had four points.

Madison, now 6-7 on the season, hosts Silver Creek on Tuesday.

CARROLL

Despite the lopsided final score, there were plenty of positives from the game. Freshman Madie Hicks made her varsity debut an impressive one, scoring 11 points, while junior Jordyn Shepherd led the team with 14 points.

The Panthers were also 19-for-26 from the free-throw line and committed only two fouls in the game.

All 11 players in uniform played and scored for Walton-Verona, led by Grace Brewer, who had 12 points. Anastasia Schneider had 11 points while Maggie Buerger and Jenna Rodgers scored 10 points each.

Walton-Verona, now 1-1, faced off against Eminence in the All "A" semifinals on Friday night and with a win, will advance to the championship game today where it will take on either Trimble County or Owen County.

Carroll, now 0-1, got right back to work, traveling to Augusta on Friday night in order to make up for the late start to the season. But COVID issues at Western Hills has forced the postponement of that scheduled game for today. Carroll returns to action on Tuesday when it travels to Oldham County.

CLUB

senior Foster Mefford took only one shot and did not score, instead preferring to set up his teammates while dishing out five assists to just one turnover and grabbing eight rebounds.

Both teams had games canceled this weekend due to COVID-19 concerns, Southwestern at South Decatur on Friday and Shawe at Providence today. Southwestern returns to action on Tuesday when it heads to New Albany and Shawe travels to Trinity Lutheran next Friday.
